

Name Badges for Business

If you need name badges for staff or exhibitions, you really need to talk to Recognition Express. The Newbury-based company produce every kind of name badge whether it be pin, magnetic, or any other kind of fastening. Staff name badges for your business help present a professional image – and Recognition Express are happy to produce short runs of name badges for employees.

Every business needs to badge it's management & staff from time to time and no one has a more extensive range of badges than Recognition Express. The firm can produce thousands if required – BUT they are also set up to produce small runs of name badges. In fact the minimum order is three ONLY!

Recognition Express manufacture these name badges themselves in-house. Of course their Newbury base is perfect for the readers of Business in Berkshire. If you would like a visit to discuss a need, just get in contact via email or phone.

Tony Quinn of Recognition Express says: “Download the PDF, to see our mini-brochure detailing our best sellers. We have included pricing and we have included the different types of fastenings and accessories that you might require. These days very few people want to use pins if they are going to use their badges a lot. Our magnet fastenings do not damage clothing and can be used with a shirt, blouse, jacket or even on a tie. The extra cost is worth every penny.”

The name badges can also be personalised to individuals - most orders are for individually personalised badges on a metal or a plastic base. Recognition Express can also provide a Brother machine which gives you the option of re-using badges – ideal for businesses with a high staff turnover.
