Gold Medal at the Monde World Selection 2006

The Monde Selection is the International Institute for Quality Selection founded in 1961, as a Belgian initiative, in Brussels.

The Monde Selection is the International Institute for the Quality Selection of Sweets, founded in 1961, in Brussels, Belgium. It has been approved by the European Union and the Belgian Ministry of Economic Affairs.

The Monde Selection has grown considerably since its foundation. It is currently the oldest and most renowned culinary selection organizations in Europe, and indeed, the world. Many food companies worldwide proudly send their products there to be rated in the wide field of Quality Selection. The Monde Selection analyses more than 1000 production in laboratories and then submits them to a tasting board consisting of an international jury. Based on the results they deliver different awards: gold medal, silver medal, and other rankings.

Maruyama Tea Products Corporation won a gold medal in the Monde Selection 2006 for our product CHASHI MEIJIN.
