Facilitation

Inspiring productivity

We design high participation meetings and workshops to provide agreed outcomes. Whether your objective is team building, strategy development, new project kick-off, a lessons learned review, or a more specific need, you can expect Inspire to design and deliver events that encourage collaborative problem solving whilst challenging assumptions, encouraging radical thinking, developing new ways of working and, most important of all, keeping it fun.

Why facilitation?

Your objective may be to work on your strategy or business plan, to agree a vision, mission or values, to develop and explore scenarios, or just get to know each other better, building trust, mutual understanding and creativity.

Whatever your needs, Inspire will provide energy, focus and direction. Our facilitation will aid decision making and deliver long term impact.

What is facilitation?

Facilitation is an invaluable tool for enabling people at all levels of the organisation to collaborate, innovate and effectively meet business challenges. A top class facilitator should work to inspire, direct and structure participation among team members so that creativity, ownership and productivity result.

It is a form of leading and communicating with the intent of achieving maximum involvement and creativity from the whole team, along with a clear commitment to the sustained delivery of superior performance and agreed change.

Who is it for?

Facilitation is typically targeted at successful teams from whom you are looking to leverage superior performance.

Inspire will provide the catalyst and spark your team needs to deliver sustainable superior performance.

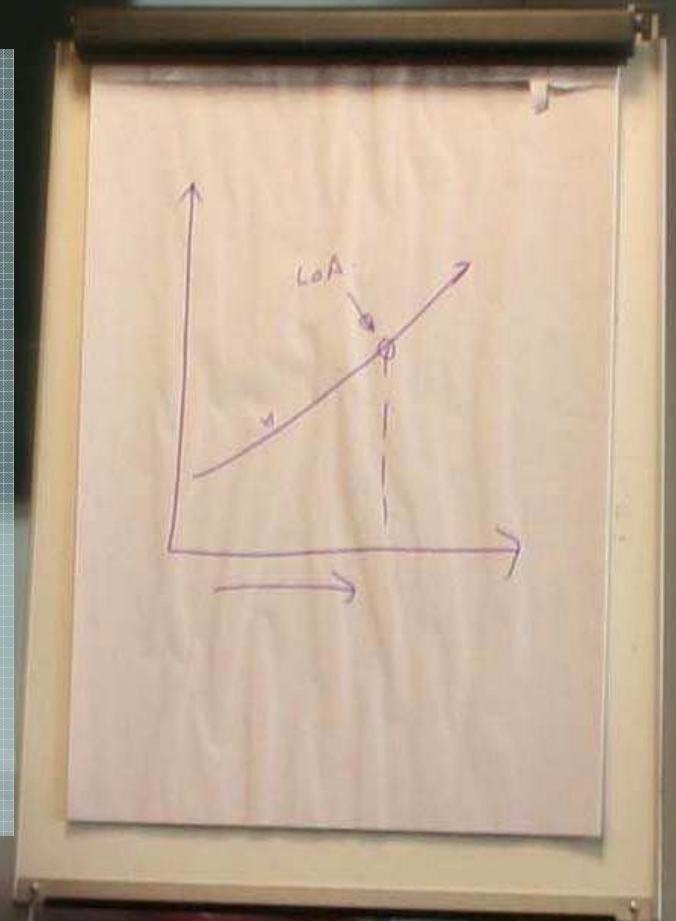

What is the payback?

Facilitation represents a just in time, cost effective development option that is also geared to strategic objectives.

It delivers:

- Greater commitment from managers and leaders
- Superior adaptability to change
- Better managerial and leadership skills
- Improved communication and involvement
- Skills in innovation, problem solving and implementation
- Flexibility and responsiveness
- Enhanced ability to learn from experience and apply that learning profitably
- An atmosphere of trust
- Motivation to support and apply decisions
- Conflict resolution
- Business results
