

Exhibition Materials from Recognition Express

If you're looking for a reliable supplier of exhibition materials, Newbury-based Recognition Express could be the answer. The company offers a one-stop-shop service for all exhibition materials including badges, embroidered clothing, point-of-sale materials and exhibition stands.

It's that time of year when many companies will be planning ahead and gearing themselves up for 'exhibition season' – traditionally September through to November. With so much to organize for a successful event, the shopping list of exhibition materials can be quite extensive. Fortunately Recognition Express are able to supply everything you need – so there's no need to juggle several different suppliers in order to get the things you need. Let's take a look at a typical 'shopping list' for a company planning an exhibition appearance:

- Badges for staff
- Embroidered clothing for staff
- The stand itself - whatever the size
- Pull-up banner stands and graphics
- Leaflets & point-of-sale
- Gifts & giveaways

Tony Quinn of Recognition Express explains: "It may seem a while until your next exhibition or show, but it makes sense to start planning ahead this summer to ensure things run smoothly. And with Recognition Express you know everything on your list can be sourced directly from one place, even down to your badges."

Recognition Express have a dedicated team of in-house designers and embroiderers who can make company badges and produce exhibition stands and graphics to a very high standard.

"Why go elsewhere?" adds Tony, "We offer a free no-obligation consultation to discuss your needs. We are also happy to produce short runs of the above for employees or customers."

With their Newbury location, Recognition Express makes an ideal supplier of exhibition materials for the readers of Business in Berkshire. If you would like a visit to discuss a need, just get in touch with Tony by email or phone.
