

Calling Berkshire Sales People

Here's an important message for all sales people based in Berkshire: we are looking for sales people to help us spread the word about Business in Berkshire

With our pages flying up the Google rankings at an incredible rate it's time we changed up a gear and enlisted the help of professional sales people to sell the package to all those businesses asking themselves 'How do I get on the first page of Google?'

Any marketer or web designer will have heard this question a thousand times: 'How can I get my website to the top of Google?' And we know there's no easy formula – rather, it's a combination of elements which, consistently done, can get you noticed on the search engines. Some choose to spend fortunes on SEO campaigns. Other opt to save themselves time and money by joining Business in Berkshire and enjoying the benefits of our excellent search engine rankings (not just Google, but all the major search engines).

Business in Berkshire really does work as a means of getting your business onto the first page – even the top position – on Google. The problem is, not everyone understands exactly how it works. And we'll admit we ourselves don't always manage to put the message across in the clearest way. We know it works (we've got countless testimonials and results to prove it) but how do we convince new members to climb aboard?

That's why we're putting the call out to Berkshire sales people. We need your help to demonstrate how Business in Berkshire can guide a business to search engine success. Sales people in Berkshire – call us now.
